Reflective Blinds for Air Traffic Control Towers and Maritime Control Towers

When air safety and maritime safety are important Reflective Blinds are there.

When you have been designing and installing blinds in control towers for nearly twenty years have been involved in the design of several new towers, supplied blinds for over sixty towers in a number of countries, and are the preferred supplier when refurbishment is due, you have to know your business.

The interesting thing about these towers is that no two are exactly alike, each tower presents a new set of challenges and opportunities for innovative design. Over the years Reflective Blinds has developed a range of exclusive hardware unique to these many applications.

The first principal of design for blinds in towers is safety.

The second is that they must give excellent visibility.

The third is that they must be easy and convenient to operate.

The fourth is that they must be reliable

The fifth is that they must be durable.

The sixth is that your supplier must be available and able to discuss any matter including the quick supply of exact replacements when the need arises.

When you need this service and these standards, give us a call.
